As made clear by its very name, Windscribe is a Firefox browser extension that proves of great help to users trying to ditch local restrictions that make content unavailable for users living in specific areas. For that, the VPN it incorporates makes it possible to hide your IP. To be more specific, the extension comes with a connection mode that automatically changes your location whenever local restrictions are found on web page you are accessing, with a list of alternatives being put at your disposal. You can fake your IP as if coming from the US, Canada, Austria, Germany, Netherlands, Russia, Hong Kong, Japan, and many others. Can efficiently block ads and trackers Other than that, the browser addon integrates an ad blocker and an option to remove social media buttons. Plus, blocking beacons and trackers is also possible, and the same can be said about randomly rotating your user agent using the so-called “Split Personality” functionality. Needless to say, whitelisting websites in order to protect them from all the modifications the extension applies can be done. Additionally, a secure link generator is on the feature list so that you can easily share privacy with your friends, with a “Copy” button being the only control you need to resort to. All in all, Windscribe for Firefox is an easy-to-handle addon whose purpose is to make your browsing experience safe and clean, being able to hide your IP with the help of the incorporated VPN while also blocking ads and trackers, all in an approachable GUI. User comments : “I’ve been using Windscribe for Firefox for about a week now, and I can’t believe how easy it is to install and use.” “I have been using the extension for about a month now, and it has been the only thing keeping me sane and safe when browsing on public Wi-Fi.” “Although I’ve never heard of Windscribe before, I can’t recommend it enough. I use it to hide my browsing history and I still haven’t been found out.” “I had no idea that there were so many options in the Firefox VPN extension world, and I’m glad I stumbled

What's New In Windscribe For Firefox?

Windscribe for Firefox is a safe browser extension that takes care of Firefox users’ browsing security. The extension allows you to access websites anonymously, filter malicious ads and trackers, and ensure the privacy of your personal data. It can also block beacons and trackers on websites, make your IP address disappear, and automatically switch your location to different geographical locations to bypass restrictions. Before downloading the extension, read the instructions first. When you use it, you will be able to choose a different location from the drop-down menu when needed. You can also set it to be permanent if you want it to apply automatically whenever the browser is used. You can also enable or disable the ad filter and the clean browsing feature if you want, as well as whitelist websites that you trust. Please note that this version of the extension doesn’t have some features that are available in the premium version, but it’s highly recommended that you install it for a better browsing experience.
