Toontrack Ezkeys Grand Piano v1.0.1 -.Q: Using multiple delimiters in vim regex search and replace I need to replace all strings with \d + + \d + + \d with \d{2,4} on a whole file. There are two problems with this: I don't know how to get vim to recognize a single \d when using is it possible to refer to a literal string \d + + \d + + \d? A: I use this regex for replacing: \%(s(\.)*\)(\d+\)\(\d+\)\(\d+\)\(\d+\)\(\d+\)\(\d+\)\(\d+\)\1\2\3\4\5\6\7\8\9 Works in vim 7.3.902. A: You can change the delimiters to any character that's unique, such as \. In your case you can use \d+, so you're saying 'replace with any digit followed by an equal sign, followed by any number of digits, followed by an equal sign, etc' The HCP of the (same-sex) partners of men with syphilis in The Netherlands. In The Netherlands, the HCP has responsibility for the treatment of male patients with syphilis. However, the HCP's tasks in treating the partners of patients with syphilis are unclear. As a first step to rectifying this, an attempt was made to obtain information about the HCP's tasks in the treatment of the (same-sex) partners of men with syphilis. In this study, semi-structured interviews were used to gather the HCP's views on the subject. The interviews were conducted from June to October 2008. Respondents included five HCPs from the public health services who participated in the National Notification System. All HCPs said they had treated at least one of the partners of men with syphilis. All HCPs described this treatment in two different ways: the partners were treated by an HCP and the partner was treated by an HCP. The main reason for treating the partners was for the sake of the partner. 4bc0debe42
